Capt. P. M. LEATHAM was in command of "C" Sqn during the attack in support of the Infantry on SAN SAVINO on Sep. 6th and 7th 44. In spite of very heavy and difficult country, and considerable enemy shelling, he managed to press forward his Squadron, creating great havoc amongst the enemy, knocking out two S.P. 1 Troop Carrier, and three MG nests. His Squadron killed and captured a large number of Germans in the village. Captain LEATHAM was himself blown into the bottom of his tank by an HE shell, breaking his ankle. He continued to command his Squadron for a period of 12 hrs before his Squadron was able to be drawn into Regimental Reserve. At no time did Capt. LEATHAM intimate to his Commanding Officer that he had been injured, until such time as he returned to Night Leaguer. Capt. LEATHAM was an example to his Squadron by his cool and calm attitude and personal bravery.	Lt. Col. D. R. B. KAYE, DSO	M.C.	447
